College Psychologist

Do you see yourself as a person who can collaborate with teachers to enhance student outcomes? If you have a compassionate, empathetic nature, enjoy genuine rapport with students, teachers and the community and hold professional qualifications as approved by the Australian Psychology Accreditation Council (APAC) you could be a suitable candidate for this exciting role at Brindabella Christian College, Canberra. Expected start date is July 2016.

Brindabella Christian College is a growing, non-denominational, co-educational Early Learning to Year 12 Christian School in the North of Canberra. It enjoys a reputation of being ‘student centered’ with excellence in pastoral care and has a vision to build a community of wisdom, integrity, service and excellence in and through Christian education. For over thirty years Brindabella Christian College, formerly O’Connor Christian School, has provided a holistic approach to education based on Christian values and beliefs.

The College has recently extended its offer to include Early Learning to Year 12 and is developing a second campus at Charnwood, West Belconnen situated about 12km away from the main campus which is located at Lyneham, North Canberra.

Brindabella Christian College currently has in excess of 850 students across both Lyneham and Charnwood and employs over 100 permanent, part-time and casual staff in various areas of the College.

As the school continues to develop it is the desire of the Board and the Principal to appoint a College Psychologist who can work collaboratively with them and the teaching staff to establish and provide counselling services for students and their families across both campuses which aim to enhance spiritual, social, academic and emotional development.

Requirements:
Be registered as a psychologist and be eligible for membership of the Australian Psychological Society (APS) with a minimum of five (5) years previous experience within an educational facility/school environment. Have practical experience working with children, adolescents and their families.

The remuneration package includes an attractive salary commensurate with the applicant’s qualifications and experience.
